

I have what could be called an extreme personality—up then down, introverted then extroverted. I just think of my life as a series of moments spent either expending energy or conserving and refueling. And it works for me. I like to create a world around me that I can retreat into when I need some privacy, but I never retreat too far, or I might miss out on great ideas and collaborations. Evan understands my space.

Private and open. Evan is both.

If you need a panel wrap solution for an open plan, Evan neatly does the job (it's way less messy than the sort of wrap with roast beef, tomato chutney and sprouts). But Evan's talents extend beyond the typical freestanding privacy applications to add to the aesthetic appeal and usefulness of any space. Always with a demeanor that's durable, light in scale, and extremely flexible.

Two-core Evan privacy; perforated steel, frosted acrylic, tackable core in Momentum Hue Annato, accessory rails; Clara Corner Table and Personal Storage; HAG H05 and HAG Conventio seating; Captain Kirk; MIA
